AND it came to pass in the reign of Abraham, whose surname was Lincoln, in the eighth and sixth year of the Independence of the States of America, that a mighty rebellion arose in that land. And Abraham said unto Simon from the Keystone State: "He then my armor-bearer." And Simon did as he was commanded, and marshaled immense hosts of young and valiant warriors from the North, South, and West, to march upon the great river Mississippi, and even beyond the Rocky Mountains—from every State called, some. And being of the kind whose hair curled not a pulse they said, "Those who have risen against us are cowards, and when they find our men, they will surely run away." And so it came to pass these two mighty hosts went forth to fight on the plains of Massassippi.

And Simon's men, though valiant and brave, were smite and slain, even so much that they hurried gallantly back to less in Abraham's bosom. And many were slain, but more were wounded. And then there was a great battle, and the day of judgment came. And lo! there arose in the North one Drake, coming in midle, but of exceeding modesty. And when Abraham and his hosts were smitten, he said, "I am here to help you." And Abraham said: "My children must not suffer; give me thy drink to drink, and I will give it a name. And so Abraham drank, and said there was nothing like it, not even in Samsonian County; that it was bitter to the lips, good for the stomach; and because these were bitter, the Navy and Marine Corps, authorized the raising of Recruits for that branch of the service, and guaranteed that Recruits for the Navy and Marine Corps shall be counted on the quota of the places where they elect to be credited, the same as if they were Recruits for the Army.
